A Mindful Approach

At Under Canvas, our mission is to inspire connections with extraordinary places, people, and the planet by enhancing access to the outdoors. We fulfill that mission by taking a Mindful Approach to everything we do – from our sustainability efforts, to the design choices we make, to the experiences we curate for our guests. Here are just some of the ways our Mindful Approach comes to life at our camps.

Protecting the Night Sky

We have joined forces with DarkSky International, the global authority on light pollution, to set the standard in the industry by enhancing our sky quality, minimizing our lighting impact, and educating others on the importance of protecting the night sky. See the following pages to learn more about our DarkSky efforts and certifications.

Thoughtful Innovation

We employ thoughtful enhancements across our camps designed to elevate the guest experience – through culinary innovation, curated adventure programming, and a localized design aesthetic that reflects the surrounding natural environment.

Resource Conservation

We conserve water and energy at our camps by using pull-chain showers, faucets that automatically shut off, low-flow toilets, and a towel reuse program. We also offer Electric Vehicle charging stations at select camps so guests can recharge their electric vehicles.

Unplug and Recharge

Wi-Fi is intentionally not offered to our guests, so that they can disconnect from technology and reconnect with others.

Land Conservation

Under Canvas destinations are designed to minimize disturbance and maximize open space. As such, we maintain dedicated, undisturbed green spaces at each camp.

In Good Company

We partner with brands that align with our mission and demonstrate the same care for our planet. These include West Elm, whose furnishings support sustainable initiatives; lululemon, which has committed to 100% renewable electricity for its owned and operated facilities; and EO, whose plant-based bath products are made in a zero-waste facility.

We Own The NIGHT

Protecting the Night Sky

Did you know that more than 80 percent of humankind—and more than 99 percent of Americans—live under a hazy umbrella of light-polluted skies? And more than 80 percent of North Americans can't see the Milky Way? It's true. Thankfully, there is a growing realization around the world that wilderness extends to the skies—and that it is our responsibility to protect those skies for present and future generations.

With that mission in mind, in 2020, we began working with DarkSky International, the global authority on light pollution, to enhance our sky quality, minimize our lighting impact, and educate others on the importance of preserving the night sky. Today, we are proud to say that five camps in the Under Canvas collection—including Under Canvas Bryce Canyon, Grand Canyon, Lake Powell - Grand Staircase, Moab, and Zion—are officially DarkSky-certified, making them the first DarkSky lodging properties in the world. Moreover, all of our camps adhere to DarkSky principles and are recognized as having some of the darkest and clearest night skies on the planet.

We Own The NIGHT

Did You Know?

Light pollution affects more than our ability to see the stars at night. In fact, the impacts of light pollution extend from humans to plants to animals and beyond. Here are just some of the ways that protecting the night benefits living things around the world.

Each year, artificial light disrupts millions of birds' migratory schedules, causing them to leave their homes too early or too late in the season, and thereby miss ideal conditions for nesting. In addition, birds that navigate by moonlight and starlight can wander off course when the sky is polluted. In fact, millions of birds die every year by colliding into needlessly illuminated buildings.

Artificial light at night disrupts the seasonal cycle of plants and trees. It throws off a plant's response to the change of seasons and prevents many trees from adjusting to seasonal variations. This, in turn, has implications for the wildlife that depend on plants and trees for their natural habitat.

Fireflies, which used to cover much of North America from May through July, have been devastated by light pollution. Relying on complete darkness to perform their mating rituals, fireflies have retreated into the last remaining dark areas and decreased their overall population by as much as 90 percent.

One million sea turtle hatchlings die each year in Florida due to skyglow from urban areas.

New research links the decline of many species with light pollution, including bats, bees, coral, and songbirds. 15 million tons of CO₂ are emitted each year from residential outdoor lighting alone. A minimum of 600 million trees would need to be planted annually to offset this waste.

Tips To Light Your Stove

To avoid unwanted smoke in your tent, be sure to remember these important tips:

- When building your fire, place the wood, kindling, and fire starter as far back within the stove as possible.
- Be careful not to overfill the stove. Add wood and kindling sparingly.
- Please do not put any items on top of the stove. It is very hot and may melt or burn items placed on top of it.

If you need assistance with your fire, please do not hesitate to ask. Our staff is always happy to help!

Place a log on one side of the stove, as far back within the stove as possible. Put the fire starter next to the log and build a stack of kindling around the fire starter.

Light your fire starter.

As kindling begins to crackle, add another smaller log.

Close the front door (to keep the smoke venting out your chimney) while leaving the front door damper completely open (to add oxygen and prevent a smoke out). Add more wood as your fire continues to build.

Once your fire is roaring, close the door and shut the damper to half way.

Continue to add wood to keep your fire going.

Extra firewood is available for your use in the box beside your tent

A woman with dark hair tied back, wearing a grey lace-up sports bra and grey leggings, is performing a tree pose (Vrikshasana) in a natural setting. She is standing on a dirt path, with her right foot resting on her left thigh and her arms raised with hands in a prayer position (Anjali Mudra). The background features a river, tall grasses, and a dense forest of evergreen trees under a blue sky with light clouds. The entire scene is framed by a white border.

Yellowstone's scenic wonders and wildlife will leave you in awe but please be sure to be mindful while appreciating their beauty! Sometimes the best relationship is long-distance:

The safest (and often best) view of Yellowstone's wildlife is from inside a car.

Always remain at least 25 yards (the length of two school buses) away from all animals, including bison and elk.

Stay at least 100 yards (the length of a football field) away from bears and wolves at all times!

Distance gives us a fresh perspective. Enjoy your time exploring!

Emergency Procedures

In case of an emergency, please alert emergency services as fast as possible by calling 911. Please state your tent number and our address:
139 Pine Creek Road, Livingston, MT 59047

In the event of a fire

Please evacuate your tent and alert camp personnel immediately. Please assemble in our main parking lot and follow instructions from camp personnel.

Severe weather procedures

In the event of severe weather or other emergencies, camp personnel may ask you to evacuate your tent and seek shelter inside your car or other safe location. A megaphone will be used to alert you if you need to leave your tent and head to safety. Please note all of our tents have been engineered to be safe in heavy storms and high winds.

Innkeepers Code

70-6-501. Innkeeper's liability as to property of guests -- dollar limitation

(1) An innkeeper is liable for all losses of or injuries to personal property placed by his guests under his care unless occasioned by an irresistible superhuman cause, by a public enemy, by the negligence of the owner, or by the act of someone whom he brought into the inn.

(2) The liability provided for in subsection (1) may not exceed $500 for all personal property of each registered guest unless the innkeeper consents in writing with the guest to assume a greater liability. An innkeeper whose liability is so limited shall notify the guest at the time of registration, in writing, that this limitation applies.

70-6-502. No liability without negligence

No hotelkeeper or innkeeper shall be liable to any guest for the loss of wearing apparel, goods, or personal effects where it shall appear that such loss occurred without the fault or negligence of such hotelkeeper or his employees.

70-6-503. Loss or damage by fire -- liability for negligence.

All innkeepers or hotelkeepers coming within the provisions of this part shall be liable for loss of or damage to any baggage or other property of their guests caused by fire in every case where such loss or damage is the result of the negligence of such keepers or their servants.

70-6-504. How exempted from liability -- safe.

If an innkeeper keeps a fireproof safe and gives notice to a guest, either personally or by placing a printed notice in a prominent place in the room occupied by the guest, that he keeps such a safe and will not be liable for money, jewelry, documents, or other articles of value and small compass unless placed therein, he is not liable, except so far as his own acts contribute thereto, for any loss of or injury to such articles not deposited with him and not required by the guest for present use.

70-6-505. Storage of property in outbuilding -- nonliability.

No innkeeper shall be liable for the loss or destruction by fire of the property received by him from a guest, stored or being, with the knowledge of such guest, in a barn or other outbuilding, where it shall appear that such loss or destruction is the work of an incendiary and occurred without the fault or negligence of such innkeeper or his servants.
